THURSDAY, APRIL 28, 1904

The average daily circulation of the Barre Daily Times for the week ending Saturday was copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this section.

3,160

When you buy cloth, you pay for it by the yard. When you buy sugar, you pay for it by the pound. When you buy advertising, you pay for it by the 1000 circulation.

When you buy advertising space in Barre, you get the lowest rates per 1000 circulation and the best returns from the Daily Times. Its advertising rates per 1000 circulation are but two-thirds what they are elsewhere in Barre.

Are you saying that one-third by advertising in the Times?

The city officials will continue to worry along on the same salaries as last year.

Time to be looking up that fishing tackle and providing yourself with some handy fairy tales.

The paper trust is to be investigated. We trust that the investigation will not be as thin as the paper.

It seems to us that Mr. Stanton is the coming man.—Island Pond Herald.

Question: How long will he be on the road?

Precious silence fairly oozes from the personage of Judge Alton B. Parker, but his very silence seems to say "watch me grow."

The Hearst forces were greatly augmented by a strenuous kicker and a chesty howler the first of the week. Yet the boy will not help his old man in his political aspiration.

There were said to be two Hearst men among the Democratic state committee which met at Burlington Monday but a microscope was needed to ferret them out. Who the others stood for is also a matter of conjecture.

That strange, weird tale of "Spotter" Wilson in Washington, D. C., as printed in yesterday's Times, will demand the limelight of investigation. Wilson manages to keep in the public eye as thoroughly as he did in Vermont a few years ago.

The Northfield News would restrict the selection of a candidate for governor from the avowed seekers after the office. Won't the News concede that there are just as good men for the office whom the voters have as much right to select from as the avowed candidates in the field?

The St. Johnsbury Republican says: "It was gratifying to find the large number of people favoring the Caledonia county candidate. There is no mistaking the fact that the tide is setting strongly in his direction." It must refer to the tide that is setting back in his direction and will eventually swamp him. We know of no other.

A Cincinnati newspaper remarks that "The Democratic State convention of Vermont was compelled to adjourn because of a tremendous snowstorm delaying the delegates. But, then, the Democrats of Vermont are accustomed to burial under snow-drifts." The joke appears to be on the Cincinnati newspaper. It never touched the Vermont Democrats, nor did the snow-storm.

Speaking of J. A. DeBoer for governor the Montpelier Journal sizes up the situation as follows: "If the Republicans of Vermont want for their leader this man who so well fills the requirements of leadership, whose demonstrated fitness for the office of governor marks him so conspicuously, it is highly incumbent on them to go ahead and nominate him. To do this is their plain duty as good citizens; and equally it would be the duty of a man with Mr. DeBoer's high ideas of the duty of a good citizen, even at some personal sacrifice, to accept a call so spontaneously given, and coming so directly from the clear fountain sources of a government of the people."

THEIR ACTION MOST PUERILE.

The vituperative language that passed between Congressman Cochran and Congressman Dalsell, in Congress yesterday, would do credit to a bar-room brawl, but is scarcely fitted for the halls of national legislation. Each of the men displayed a puerility of which he should be ashamed. The Pennsylvania charged the New Yorker with having been in the pay of the McKinley political bureau, as a stump speaker, and Cochran, in a heat of pas-

INSTRUCTED FOR ROOSEVELT

Indiana Republicans Choose Delegates and Name State Ticket.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 28.—J. Frank Hanly of Lafayette was nominated for governor on the first ballot by the Indiana Republican convention. The other candidates were W. L. Taylor of Indianapolis, W. L. Penfield of Auburn and Warren G. Sayre of Wabash.

Nominations for other state offices were made by acclamation as follows: Secretary of state, Daniel E. Storms; Auditor of state, David E. Sherrick; Noblesville; state treasurer, Nat U. Hill, Bloomington; attorney general, Charles W. Miller, Goshen; superintendent of public instruction, Passett A. Cotton, Newcastle; judges of the supreme court, Oscar H. Montgomery, Seymour, and John W. Hadley, Danville.

The platform adopted instructs for President Roosevelt, indorses Senator Beveridge and indirectly suggests his re-election, approves the course of both Senators Fairbanks and Beveridge, recommends a railroad commission to protect shippers, approves the course of the government in Cuba, Panama and the Philippines, approves the president's order on service pensions and refers to the administration's policy in handling trusts as an evidence of the Republican party's policy concerning trusts.

Senators Fairbanks and Beveridge, Governor Durbin and State Chairman James Goodrich were elected by acclamation for delegates at large to the national convention. E. P. McClure of Marion, E. W. Marsh of Greenfield, Howard Maxwell of Rockville, and J. L. C. McAdams of Portland were chosen for alternates at large, and George A. Cunningham of Evansville and Joseph D. Oliver of South Bend for presidential electors at large.

CANAL COMMISSION BACK.

Returns From Isthmus After Making a General Inspection.

New York, April 28.—Among the passengers who arrived on the steamer Yucatan from Colon were the following members of the United States canal commission: Admiral J. G. Walker, Professor F. M. Burr, General G. W. Davis, C. E. Grunsky, Colonel F. J. Hecker, B. H. Harrod, Major F. M. Black, Colonel W. C. Gorgas, Captain C. E. Gillette, Mrs. L. A. La Garde, R. E. Ledbetter and J. W. Ross.

Mr. Grunsky said that the commission had accomplished the object of their visit, which was the general inspection of the physical features of the canal zone. He had nothing to add to Mr. Parsons' statement of their inspection. Mr. Parsons, the other commissioner, arrived here last week. Colonel Gorgas, with a medical staff, and Captain Gillette of the United States engineers are engaged in looking after the plans for future sanitation of the canal zone.
